Bio

“Whether we are closing on the purchase or sale of art, real estate, a business, or any other transaction, we schedule each closing at our client’s convenience.”

Business Law

Novela Law has assisted numerous domestic and international companies in handling their general corporate needs. We typically act as outside general counsel to many of our clients, who are not of the size to warrant an in-house legal department. We have deep knowledge in representing equipment manufacturers and distributors, auto dealerships, lenders and banks, interactive wagering companies, Web 3 IP companies, crypto lenders, and technology products and services companies. Daniel Novela is also an Adjunct Professor at the University of Miami School of Law, teaching a business law class.

Domestic Incorporation

Novela Law regularly counsels its clients on the benefits of various United States-based corporate structures, including LLCs (limited liability companies), C, and S-corporate options in all of the U.S., including Delaware, Wyoming, and Florida, and their effect on potential business transactions. Novela Law also assists foreign clients interested in establishing permanent residence in the U.S. Typically with a corporate plan, including other Novela Law services such as real estate, offshore corporations, and trusts.

Mergers & Acquisitions

Novela Law has extensive experience in acquisition and sale transactions, including asset and stock purchases, merger agreements, confidentiality, exclusivity and standstill agreements, due diligence investigations, registration statements, proxy statements, poison pills, and anti-takeover strategies.

Private Offerings

Novela Law has substantial experience representing growing companies needing additional capital from private placements, venture capital rounds of investment, or inside investors. It regularly provides counsel in private placement transactions representing both domestic and foreign issuers in the manner of the issuance. In those capacities, the firm is experienced in preparing, reviewing, and revising private placement memorandums and providing legal advice on Regulation D and compliance with Blue Sky laws for domestic and foreign companies and individuals.

Closings on Your Schedule

We schedule each closing at our client’s convenience. We have closed numerous transactions for out-of-town and overseas clients without their need to travel to our office in Miami. We also coordinate powers of attorney and the signing, notarization, and apostille of documents so you may remain in the comfort of the city or country where you reside.

Real Estate

Novela Law negotiates and closes numerous residential and commercial real estate properties annually. We routinely prepare all closing documents for these transactions, including contracts for sale and purchase, deeds, condo approvals, surveys, loan payoffs, permit searches, any tax inquiries, all necessary inspections. Our handling of frequent luxury real estate closings has allowed us to develop a working relationship with a select number of prominent realtors. Consequently, we know realtors who have expertise in transactions of a particular size, type (residential, multifamily, and commercial), or location. We make this information available to our clients for targeted referrals to professionals we have worked with in the past and who have successfully represented buyers and sellers in numerous transactions.

An estimated 50% of real estate sales in South Florida involve a foreign buyer. This has presented new opportunities and challenges to the real estate closing process. We know that of paramount importance to foreign buyers are ways to limit exposure to U.S. taxes and liability for their new real estate purchase. We work closely with foreign clients to set up offshore holding corporate structures with domestic companies that facilitate these two interests. Many real estate transactions are “Cash” closings with a very short time to close. We offer our clients the ability to have these offshore corporate structures in place in one week, avoiding any closing process delays.

Offshore Corporations

Novela Law provides counsel on the international structuring of our client’s businesses to limit their tax and personal liability by selecting the most suitable corporate structure from a choice of international, tax-haven domiciles, including but not limited to the following: Aruba, Bermuda, British Virgin Islands, Cayman Islands, Channel Islands, Costa Rica, Isle of Man, Liechtenstein, Luxemburg, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Panama and the Seychelles. Additionally, we set up an offshore corporate structure that is flexible and which most foreign clients can use as a base for their other global investments.

Offshore Trusts and Foundations

An offshore trust or foundation in an appropriate tax-haven domicile should be the cornerstone of succession family planning for foreign high-net-worth individuals and families. An offshore trust or foundation allows for an orderly transition of assets from family to heirs, typically while avoiding court proceedings and probate. This also allows the utmost anonymity for families, with a process that avoids public scrutiny of succession family matters or how assets are distributed to heirs. Novela Law has the capability through our network of law firms to customize our services to include any jurisdiction that might serve our client’s particular needs worldwide.

Significant Art

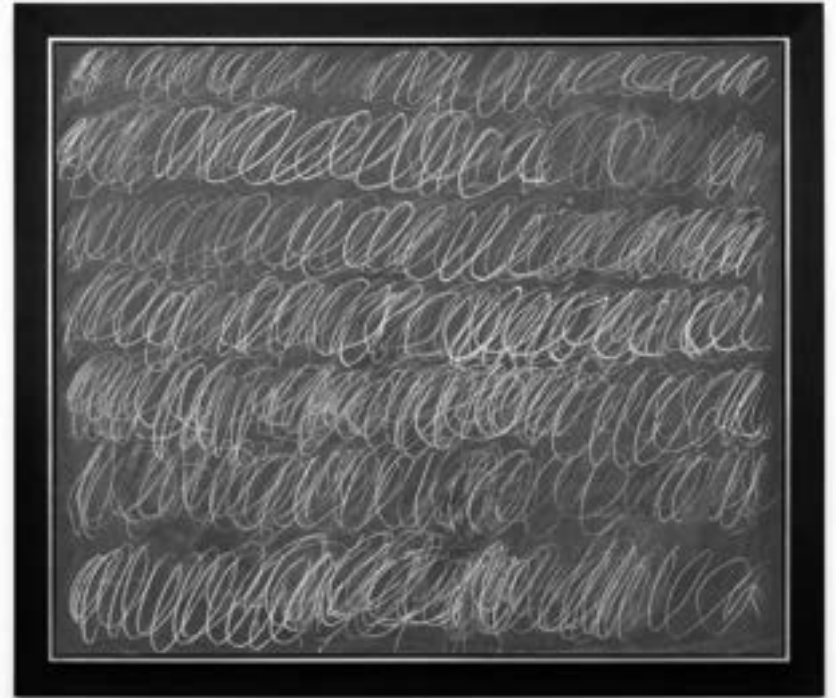

Daniel Novela has developed an expertise in art law during his many years of practice. Novela Law has assisted clients in all aspects of the purchase and sale of significant art pieces, including art from some of the best-known artists, such as Monet, Picasso, Rothko, Twombly, and Bacon. Novela Law also assists clients in collateralizing their art collection, allowing clients to pursue opportunities including raising cash for new investments, refinancing other debt, supplementing income, creating cash flow, and purchasing more art. Because we also represent lenders in the art field, we are familiar with the transaction costs associated with loans collateralized with art. They can be much lower than expenses associated with a sale in many cases. We also have experience in negotiating with auction houses.

Aircraft

Novela Law works with a team of experienced industry professionals to assist with all aspects of aircraft purchase, sale, and ongoing aircraft management. We have assisted numerous domestic and overseas clients in registering their aircraft. Our services include aircraft registration in the U.S. (FAA Registry) and offshore, negotiation of aircraft purchase agreements, aircraft trust agreements (including the use of owner-trusts to comply with FAA citizenship requirements for non-U.S. residents), transfer and clearance of title, counsel on the appropriate corporate entity to own the aircraft, selection of unique tail numbers and aircraft financing. We work with many foreign jurisdictions for clients who prefer to register their aircraft offshore, including Aruba, Bermuda, the Cayman Islands, Isle of Man, Malta, and San Marino. We also make introductions for our clients who can assist with purchasing, selling, or financing aircraft.

Yachts

Novela Law has assisted clients with selling and purchasing yachts since the firm's founding. These services include purchase and sale consulting, appropriate corporate entity to own the vessel, appropriate jurisdiction to register the vessel, taxes, title documentation, vessel financing negotiations, liens and mortgages, crew employment issues, brokerage consulting and representation, and domestic and offshore closings. We work with many jurisdictions, including the Bahamas, the British Virgin Islands, the Cayman Islands, Isle of Man, Gibraltar, Jamaica, the Marshall Islands, Malta, St. Vincent and the Grenadines, and the United States.

Daniel Novela has over 25 years of legal experience in Art and, Corporate law and representing high-net-worth individuals and families from around the globe (including the acquisition and transfer of significant art, aircraft, businesses, real estate, and yachts).
